- 1) Bullying is a big problem in many schools; most victims are kids who are different in some way. This might be because they have different color, religion ,accent, or they are very small, fat, wear thick glasses or they are new at a school .Or they are naturally shy and prefer to be isolated rather than part of a group .Statistics showed that one in ten pupils in English secondary school is bullied.
- 2) Toby was a typical victim of bullying: this is his story:

Last year we moved house, so I had to go to a new school .In my class they were three boys who were real bullies. Everybody was afraid of them. On my second day they came up to me after PE .I had a new pair of trainers, which were a birthday present from my grandparents .At first the boys were very nice to me and they said that they liked my trainers .then, their leader said "I need some new trainers. I think I'll have these» I tried to grab them back, but the other boys pushed me against a hedge. They punched and kicked me. I told my parents that I lost my trainers.
- 3) A few days later, the boys asked me for some money. I gave it to them because I didn't want to be beaten up again. Every week after that, they asked for something. If I didn't give it to them, they used to hit me. I hated going to school, but they even reached me at home. They used to send text messages to my mobile phone–things like: "We'll see you tomorrow at break time. Don't forget the money."
- 4) Luckily, my mum saw one of these texts and I told her everything. The next day she went to the school to see the headmaster. He called the bullies into his office, and he talked to some other kids in my class, too. In the end, two of the bullies were expelled from the school.
- 5) Things have been OK since they left and I haven't had any more text messages. I've seen the two boys who were expelled in the town, too, but they haven't done anything. I saw them in town yesterday, in fact, but they just ignored me. I was a bit worried about that at first. I'm glad my mum found out about it. If you keep it to yourself, the bullies will just carry on.

Dear sister
I know that you are not feeling well because your son's..... are bad in this term. Thus, you should find out why he got marks. I advise you to set a time each day when your son is not allowed to anything else but his homework. Don't let him play games or watch TV during that time. Generally, he needs a break after a full day at school.
So, thetime to do one's homework may be after dinner because parents need totheir kids. But you shouldn't do his work or even part of it for him. He should do it.....Andyour child is working at his full capacity; there is no need for him to take private lessons.
